Kitchen & Bar

Hello!

When we imagined PORT, we wanted it to be a space where YOU, our guest, would always feel welcome, comfortable, and relaxed.

A home away from home, kind of.

A friend's living room maybe.

Where the conversation is engaging,

the food is delicious,

and the drinks are flowing.

And most of all lots of warmth.

Warmth of the familiar along with the possibility of the new.

New connections, New conversations.

Welcome to PORT!

We like to keep things simple, but do them really well. Homestyle, mostly cuisine from one region as always, but don't be surprised if you get a whiff of some different worlds, thrown into the mix.

So do sit back,
browse a magazine or book from
our curated collection.
Grab a cup of coffee or tea,
a glass of wine or beer, or one of
the classic cocktails
and take a break from the wild wild out there.

Cheers!

Team PORT

Cocktails

ALL 800

Dry Martini

Gin, dry vermouth, olive or lemon twist

“I like to have a martini, two at the very most –After three I'm under the table, after four, I'm under my host.”

- Dorothy Parker

Pompelmo

Old Tom gin, Aperol, grapefruit & tonic

Aperol is a lightly bitter Italian aperitif with flavours of rhubarb, orange and grapefruit. Although we are hardwired to perceive bitterness as poison, in small doses it can work wonders in a drink, stimulating both the appetite and the conversation.

Corpse Reviver #2

Gin, Martini Bianco, triple sec, lime & absinthe

The second child of a family of hangover 'cures', we find this drink to be the perfectly balanced pick-me-up for any time of day and any degree of hangover.

Artist's Special

Irish whiskey, peated scotch, raspberry, dry vermouth & citrus

In his seminal 1930 drinks tome 'The Savoy Cocktail Book', Harry Craddock calls this drink the 'ink of inspiration' for those imbibing it at the Bal Bullier Club in Paris. We are confident that today's artists will find similar inspiration in this slightly fruitier, smokier version.

Bloody Mary

Vodka, tomato juice, Worcester sauce, tabasco & black pepper

The original 'hair of the dog', impeccably designed to satisfy the cravings of those who prefer their drinks spicy and savoury.

Watermelon Picador

Blanco tequila, lime, triple sec & watermelon, blended

In 1937, an Englishman named William J. Tarling published the Café Royal Cocktail Book - Coronation Edition. To attract people towards his 'modern drinks', he created the Picador, a drink which most people today would recognise as a Margarita. In this, our 'modern' drink, we have added tropical watermelon and blended the whole thing, tiki-style.

Whiskey Sour

Bourbon, lime, sugar, bitters & egg white

As David Wondrich observes in Imbibe!, at the peak of its popularity between the 1860s and the 1960s, the Whiskey Sour “was one of the cardinal points of American drinking, and... one of the few drinks that could come near to slugging it out with the vast tribe of cocktails in terms of day-in, day-out popularity.”

Port in a Storm

Light rum, Old Monk, pineapple, lime, orgeat, bitters & black pepper
Our fruitier, spicier version of Trader Vic's classic Mai Tai. We hope you will proclaim it to be

“Mai Tai Roa Ae!”, Tahitian for “Out of this world- The Best!”

Old Fashioned

Bourbon, bitters, sugar & orange zest

Originally called 'The Whiskey Cocktail', we believe that the earliest incarnation of this drink remains the best; 'a simple concoction of spirit, sugar, bitters and water.' Orange zest is the closest we will get to adding fruit.

Espresso Martini

Vodka, Kahlua, & espresso

Godfather of the modern London cocktail scene, Dick Bradsell is said to have created this drink for a well-known supermodel who wanted something to 'wake her up and f--k her up'.

House Lemonades & Non-Alcoholics

All 200

Pink Lemonade

Fresh raspberries, citrus & soda
Because who can resist a pink drink?

Italian Herb Lemonade

Mint, basil, rosemary, citrus & soda
We've taken the idea of a virgin Mojito one step further and amped up the herb volume for a drink guaranteed to refresh and invigorate

Fresh Lime Soda

Fresh lime & soda, sweet or salty
The perfect thirst quencher for every season.

Homemade Ginger Beer

Fresh ginger, chili, citrus & soda
We like our ginger beer to have a little clout, and a touch of green chili does just the trick here.

Iced Kahwa & Cucumber Tea

Green Kashmiri Kahwa tea, honey & cucumber
Saffron, cinnamon, cardamom and almond are the classic flavours used in Kahwa, used to soothe the soul and warm the body. Here we've cooled it down with cucumber and sweetened with honey for a revitalizing alternative.

Arnold Palmer

Black tea & fresh lemonade
Named after legendary golfer Arnold Palmer, who preferred his beverages without the alcoholic bite. We think he had the right idea.

Milkshakes and Smoothies

Vanilla 180

Vanilla ice cream and milk blended with crushed espresso beans

Banana 180

Banana blended with vanilla ice cream and milk

Oreo 200

Oreo cookies blended with vanilla ice cream and milk

Melon 220

Cut melon blended with honey, cream, and milk
